Last week, the operators of Norwalk Town Square asked what types of businesses they'd like to see at the shopping center.

The Norwalk Patriot posed the question to readers on Facebook. Here are selected responses:

Kevin James Landry: I drove through the plaza last week and it doesn't make me proud as a resident. It needs a remodel. It's a great space that should feature live bands in the summer or a farmers market in the lot by the tower ... if South Gate can do it with Azalea Shopping Center why can't Norwalk?

It's time to give the people of Norwalk the opportunity to keep money in our city with good options. Let's see how many entrepreneurs we have in Norwalk.

Nereida Chaidez: Please fix the lights on the tower and make it beautiful again. A Noodle World, Pieology, Jamba Juice, some yummy sushi spot, Mediterranean...

Terry Norman: How about bring back JCPenney, Sears, good clothing stores. Look back to how this place was in the 50s thru the 70s, it was a great place to shop.

Steve Rod: Maybe our local government should stop thinking with a backwards old-world mentality and allow dispensaries (or whatever they'll be called as of January 1). The city is just letting a golden revenue opportunity go by.

Charlie Herrera: More security would be nice. I used to work there and would hear from different employees that work at the Town Square of a few places getting robbed. We need to get these criminals out of our city and make this town safer again.

Rubin Diaz: First off, dose that place clean. We are living in the Stone Age. Every city is beautifying but us. What good business would want to move there? With these crappy buildings we will always have crappy businesses. People that can afford a better product will go west to Downey or south to Cerritos.

New California laws going into effect in 2018

2018 LAWS: Among the new laws are greater oversight over unprocessed rape kits and tighter gun control.

SACRAMENTO – Several new laws are slated to go into effect Jan. 1, 2018, including several aimed at protecting drivers and employees.

Here's a look at some of the most notable pieces of legislation:

AB 1008: Criminal history: Prohibits employers from inquiring about or considering a job applicant's criminal record prior to a conditional offer of employment.

AB 168: Salary history: Prohibits employers from asking job applicants for previous salary history.

SB 3: Minimum wage increase: Raises minimum wage from $10.50 to $11/hour for employees of businesses with 26+ employees and from $10 to $10.50 for employees of businesses with 25 or fewer employees

Proposition 64: Marijuana Legalization: Under California's legalization of recreational marijuana approved by voters in 2016, adults 21 and older can buy marijuana for recreational use from a licensed dispensary starting Jan. 1, 2018. The state is now issuing commercial licenses for cannabis cultivation, manufacture, testing labs, distribution and retail sale.

SB 65: Marijuana — Ingesting while driving: Bans smoking or ingesting marijuana while driving or riding in a car, just like alcohol.

SB 250: School lunch: Requires schools to make meals available to needy kids, even if their fees have not been paid.

AB 273: Subsidized child care: Makes parents who are taking English as a Second Language, GED and High School Equivalency classes eligible for subsidized child care.

AB 908: Paid family leave: Increases the level and duration of benefits provided in the Paid Family Leave (PFL) and State

Disability (SDI) insurance programs.

SB 63: Job-protected family leave: Expands job-protected new parent leave to workers at businesses with 20+ employees (previously was 50+).

AB 10: Tampons in schools: Requires schools serving students in grades 6-12 with at least 40 percent of students living in poverty to stock bathrooms with tampons and other feminine hygiene products.

SB 27: Livestock — Use of antimicrobial drugs: Prohibits routine use of antibiotics on livestock in California. Livestock managers can only use antibiotics if they've got a prescription from a veterinarian.

State Budget: Dental benefits for Medi-Cal: The 2017-18 state budget restores full dental benefits to adult Medi-Cal patients effective January 1, 2018.

AB 1127: Diaper changing stations: Requires that at least one restroom diaper changing station be accessible to both women and men in newly-constructed or renovated state and local government buildings, large retail and entertainment venues, and restaurants that hold at least 60 people.

SB 219: "LGBT Seniors Bill of Rights": Gives legal protections to lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender seniors living in long-term care facilities.

SB 442: Swimming pool safety: Requires residential swimming pools to adhere to new safety standards and additional inspections.

Proposition 63: Guns — Ammunition sales: Regulates ammunition sales and transfers by requiring they be conducted through a licensed ammunition vendor; bans importing ammunition bought outside California without first shipping it to a licensed vendor

AB 7: Guns — Open carry: Applies an existing statewide ban on openly-carrying long guns to Marlon Godoy: We need a big shopping center with a promenade to walk around with shopping and dining like the surrounding cities.

Glo Worm: The whole place needs an upgrade to look more inviting. It will keep people from shopping in Downey and Cerritos.

Mary Elizabeth Vera: I find myself going there often on Sundays. There is nowhere to park in the front due to the church, so I end up leaving. Is the church paying for the lot use?

Lilian Mazariegos: Kabuki, Olive Garden, Cheesecake Factory, Sprouts, Trader Joe's. No pawn shops. More security, better lighting at night, keep it clean.

Maria Ventura: Honestly, please upgrade the town center so you can entice locals to shop local rather than venture to Downey or Cerritos.

Adela Amaya-Rod: Target! Home Goods! A brewery! Some avocado toast hipster place!

Norwalk’s Rashaad Penny rushes for 4 touchdowns in bowl game

FOOTBALL: The Norwalk High alumnus finishes his collegiate career on a high note, with eyes on the NFL.

By William Odis Martin
Contributor

NORWALK – Norwalk’s own Rashaad Penny has had a historic season rushing the football for the Aztecs at San Diego State, but many fans believe he was conned out of a Heisman Trophy despite his ridiculous statline. It’s ok though, because it definitely won’t be the last we see of him.

Expect to see Penny every Sunday for the next few seasons, because he has Marshawn Lynch-type explosiveness paired perfectly with Le’veon Bell’s patience and vision.

Penny led the FBS in rushing and all purpose yards this season, leading SDSU to a 10-3 record.

His 2,248 rushing yards and 25 touchdowns was not enough to even make the top three finalists in votes.

2017 was his first season as the starting running back for SDSU, and already Penny surpassed Donnel Pumphrey’s single season school record for total rushing yards, a record that was set just last year.

The 6-foot, 225-pound highlight reel machine returned for his last season so that he could showcase his next level abilities for the pro scouts as the featured back.

His decision proved to be the wise one considering his new stock value after finishing fifth in the Heisman voting and single-handedly dismantling the Army defense last Saturday in the Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowl.

It was Penny’s time to shine and Norwalk’s lucky Penny rose to the occasion, despite the last-minute heartbreaking defeat on a successful two-point try with only seconds remaining.

Penny went off for 221 yards rushing with four touchdowns in his last college football game of his career.

He joined elite company on Sunday becoming only the fourth player to ever rush for 200 or more yards in five straight games. Only Marcus Allen, Barry Sanders, and Jamario Thomas have done so in FBS history.

One of his greatest plays of the game will never be seen on a stat sheet, but it was definitely noted in NFL scouts’ notebooks around the league. It was on a kickoff return, when Penny took on the role of lead blocker and blasted every Army defender in his path off their feet, clearing the path for his teammate to easily score to answer back before the half.

Paging Dr. Frischer...

By Dr. Alan Frischer

I recently addressed a class of 6th graders on the topics of germs and hygiene. As you can imagine, we spent much of the time discussing the importance of hand washing, which in turn led to the subjects of soap, water, and antibacterial cleaners. What’s new in the scientific literature?

Hygiene plays a significant role in how frequently we get sick. The data is rather depressing regarding hand washing after using a public toilet.

Studies show that women are better at it than are men: roughly 62% of women wash after using the bathroom, while only 40% of men do. Even worse, only 5% of all people wash correctly. I’ll get back to that.

A recent study out of the University of Maryland looked at hand sanitizers vs. soap and water. The hands of participants were deliberately exposed to E. coli. Then, one of the following was used for cleansing: alcohol-based hand sanitizer, non-alcohol based hand sanitizer, plain bar soap, or liquid antibacterial soap. Twenty seconds were counted out for each washing (note that most people spend five seconds with their hands underwater – if they wash at all).

The results? Alcohol-based hand sanitizers worked better than those without alcohol. Antibacterial soap worked only slightly better than regular soap. Washing with soap and water is the first choice, however, especially if the dirt on your hands is visible.

Sanitizers do not actually remove the dirt. However, hand sanitizers are indeed more effective than soap and water in eliminating germs.

The bottom line is that technique is actually more important than which product is used.

Just to make it more complex, however, note that the overuse of hand sanitizers and antibacterial soap is not a good thing, as not all germs are bad - many are protective. The overuse of antibacterial products can encourage bacterial resistance, making it more difficult to fight the harmful germs when we really need to.

- To properly wash hands with soap and water:
- Wet the hands with running water (the temperature makes little difference), and add soap.
 - Rub the hands together, making a soapy lather. Wash the fronts and backs of the hands, between the fingers, under the nails, and around the wrists *for at least 20 seconds (the “ABC” song, or two rounds of “Happy Birthday”).
 - Rinse the hands well under running water.
 - Dry the hands thoroughly with a clean towel or air dryer.
 - Turn off the water with a clean paper towel or an elbow.

Soap and water are not always available or convenient. To properly use hand sanitizers:

- Apply the hand sanitizer to the palm of one hand
- Rub the hands together, spreading it over all surfaces of the hands and fingers until dry.

Always wash hands before preparing food or eating, treating wounds, dispensing medicine, caring for a sick person, inserting contact lenses, or touching your eyes, nose or mouth. Wash your hands after using the toilet, preparing food (particularly raw meats), changing a diaper, touching an animal, blowing your nose, coughing or sneezing into your hands, treating wounds or caring for the sick, handling garbage, household or garden chemicals, handling dirty towels, or shaking hands with others.

My talk to the 6th grade class was a good reminder to me and to the parents in attendance, as well as to my target audience. Germs are all around us. Some of the germs can cause illness. Please pay attention to your cleansing routine.

Until your hands are truly clean, keep them away from your eyes, nose and mouth...and from everyone else.

Downey’s Rose Parade float enters home stretch

ROSE FLOAT: Downey’s entry in Monday’s Rose Parade will feature 14,000 roses.

By Alex Dominguez
Staff Writer

DOWNEY – With Jan. 1 quickly approaching at the start of next week, the Downey Rose Float

Association has entered the home stretch of float preparation.

Nestled within the Rancho Los Amigos south campus, Rose Float volunteers and community members are hard at work to put the finishing touches on next year’s Rose Parade entry.

“Making a Difference’ is the theme of the parade, and the theme of our float is ‘Working Together,’” said Kelley Roberts, construction chairman at DRFA.

“Working Together” will showcase two peace doves and an 11 foot 6-inch-tall, 11 foot 5-inch-wide rotating globe. The float itself spans 42 1/2 feet-long, 18 feet-wide, and 15 feet 2 inches tall.

The float will also feature Miss Downey Julie Ledesma and her royal court.

While this float is smaller in comparison to prior entries by Downey, it isn’t necessarily a bad thing, DRFA Art Director Jeff Shadic, who presented the original concept for the float, says that the DRFA “wanted to relax a bit this year.”

This float also leans away from more “cartoony” features, favoring elements that DRFA is known to be good at.

“We excel at architectural elements,” said Shadic. “We’re playing to our strengths.”

At the time of writing, Roberts says that the float is behind schedule and hopefully will be caught up within the next day and a half. Floral Director Jason Redfox isn’t worried though.

“Most likely by [Thursday] afternoon we will be full-on decorating this float,” said Redfox. “That being said, we feel that this float is going to decorate pretty quick. We’re hoping that even though right now it looks like we’re not done, a couple of days from now we’re going to be in good shape.”

That decorating process will include 14,000 roses and a “couple thousand orchids,” according to Redfox.

“I would say 80 percent of the flowers used on this float are roses,” said Redfox. “To put it in perspective, last year with a larger float... we had about 7,000 roses. We’re doubling the roses, but this year’s float is 13 feet shorter and 10 feet not as tall.”

Tying into the parade and float theme, the DRFA Relay for Life Team is selling $1 pink ribbons for every pink rose on the float. Part of those proceeds will be donated to Relay for Life.

Downey’s float will roll down Colorado Boulevard and onto television screens when the 129th Tournament Roses Parade airs Monday at 8 a.m.

The float will return to Downey on Jan. 2 and remain on display in front of the Embassy Suites until Jan 4.

Shared Stories: For Display Only

Yolanda Adele’s short story packs a punch. She shares a hard lesson learned about items on display at Christmas time. Shared Stories is a weekly column featuring articles by participants in a writing class at the Norwalk Senior Center. Bonnie Mansell is the instructor for this free class offered through the Cerritos College Adult Education Program. Curated by Carol Kearns.

By Yolanda Adele

I was six years old the Christmas that my mother promised to take me to see Santa at the big store downtown. Mama warned me that I would first have to be patient while we stopped at the appliance department.

As soon as we got off the streetcar I felt and smelled the fresh mist in the air mingled with the scent of cinnamon churros, my favorite fried sweet bread sticks, coming from a vender’s cart. I didn’t dare ask Mama to buy one for me. I was going to try to be on my best behavior for Mama, and that meant being seen, but not heard.

The multi-color Christmas lights from the decorated street lamps reflected in the small puddles of rain water in front of the store. It looked utterly magical to me.

We walked in and passed the main lobby where the sound of Jingle Bells played loudly and where Santa was sitting waiting for me! I was filled with the kind of excitement that must come when you are in the first car of a roller-coaster about to plunge at bullet speed towards the ground.

We were at the mundane alliance department for what seemed eons. I grew impatient. I made several trips to the drinking fountain. Eventually, I had to go “potty.”

Mama was so enveloped by the prospect of owning a new wringer washing machine that she turned a deaf ear to my pleas to “go”. I was afraid to have an “accident” and have my Mama take me home without seeing Santa.

Just when I thought I found a solution, an irate salesman approached my mother and asked in a loud voice, “Is that your child on the floor model commode?” He didn’t give Mama a chance to answer.

“If so,” he continued, “remove her at once and explain to her that that latrine is for display, ONLY! We have sanitation laws you know!”

With that said, he handed my red-faced mother a box of tissues. She cleaned me and the commode the best she could. In a hurry! We fled out of the store and across the street to the Piggy-Wiggly Café to use their bathroom and get cleaned up.

Mama let it be known to anyone within shouting distance that I was not going to see Santa anytime soon. On that day I learned what “Display Only” is NOT for.

I finally got to see Santa in person – on my eighth Christmas.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 01/19/18 at 8:30AM in Dept. 9 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012
IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. Downey sanctions troublesome hookah lounge

DOWNEY – A downtown hookah lounge will have to severely adjust its operation after the Downey Planning Commission last week made several changes to its conditional use permit.

Changes at Mosaik Hookah Lounge, located at 11029 Downey Ave., include the removal of live entertainment, the exclusion of customers under the age of 21, and the prohibition of loitering outside the business, with the exception of a queue along Downey Avenue for entry.

The Planning Commission also rolled back the hookah lounge's hours of operations. It now must close by midnight when it previously stayed open as late as 4 a.m.

According to the agenda item, representatives from police, fire, planning, and the city prosecutor's office met with Adnan Saab, owner of Mosaik Hookah Lounge, in September to discuss recent incidents that have happened at or as a result of the lounge.

Saab is a distant third cousin of Downey councilmember Alex Saab.

Downey Police have been called to the hookah lounge 18 times since Nov. 13, 2016, for a variety of complaints, including arguments, yelling, fighting, theft, and drinking in public. Many of the incidents occurred after midnight.

The meeting with Adnan Saab included a new site inspection of the hookah lounge in which several violations of the business's conditional use permit were found, including modified floor plans that had not been approved by the city, live entertainment during hours not permitted, dancing, and the lack of a security plan submitted to Downey Police.

The fire department also found numerous fire and building code violations.

Some of these violations have already been addressed and the hookah lounge has until Jan. 4 to comply with the fire department's lists of corrections, officials said.
