Garcia, Archuleta big winners in Tuesday’s primaries

► Assemblymember Cristina Garcia, politically vulnerable after accusations of sexual misconduct, collected the most votes among 58th District candidates to advance to a November runoff.

In the state Senate’s 32nd District, Rita Topalian won a special primary, signaling voter rejection of embattled incumbent Tony Mendoza. She will face Pico Rivera councilman Bob Archuleta in November.

SACRAMENTO – Cristina Garcia, Norwalk’s Democratic representative in the California Assembly, appears poised to keep her seat after capturing more than 28% of the vote in Tuesday’s primary election.

The win advances Garcia to the November runoff where she will be challenged by Republican Mike Simpfenderfer.

Garcia’s win was far from guaranteed Tuesday. An outspoken leader of the #MeToo women’s movement, Garcia went on unpaid leave in February following allegations she groped a male staff member and made crude and homophobic remarks towards others.

An investigation cleared Garcia of the most serious charges but, sensing an opportunity, seven opponents challenged Garcia in her re-election bid, including six fellow Democrats.

With all precincts reporting, Garcia finished in first place, capturing 9,854 votes. She was followed by Simpfenderfer, who netted 9,159 votes.

Garcia and Simpfenderfer will now appear on the Nov. 6 ballot as part of California’s new primary voting system that advances the top two vote-getters to the general election regardless of political affiliation.

Simpfenderfer, a Republican, faces an uphill battle to unseat Garcia in November as the 58th District is heavily Democratic. Still, Simpfenderfer said he was ready to debate Garcia on the issues frustrating constituents, particularly a gas tax Garcia supported and leniency on criminals.

“The voters showed they were tired of the non stop embarrassment and started the change needed in the 58th Assembly District,” Simpfenderfer said. “Repeal of the gas tax and repeal of the increased silly DMV fees are on their minds and affecting their pocketbooks. We must end the red carpet treatment the criminals enjoyed. It is time to revoke the get out of jail card criminals received courtesy of the politicians. Business growth and an immediate increased supply of housing are urgent as too many flee California. We have homeless dying and too many are clueless about the solution. Proposition

13 is under assault by the greedy politicians.”

STATE SENATE: Republican Rita Topalian soared past a field of Democratic challengers Tuesday in a bid for the 32nd State Senate seat left vacant by the resignation of Tony Mendoza.

Mendoza resigned the seat in February after an investigation concluded he engaged in a “pattern of unwelcome flirtation and sexually suggestive behavior.”

By resigning, Mendoza avoided an expulsion from office. He ran to re-claim his seat but this time was rejected by voters.

Topalian will face Democrat Vanessa Delgado in an Aug. 7 runoff to finish Mendoza’s uncompleted term.

Meanwhile, Topalian and Pico Rivera councilman Bob Archuleta were the top finishers in Tuesday’s primary and will face each other in the Nov. 6 election for the next full four-year term.

Like the 58th Assembly district, the 32nd Senate district is heavily Democratic, making it a real possibility Delgado could win the Aug. 7 special election.

But she would serve only a few months until the November election.

Gavin Newsom, John Cox headed for November showdown

► The Democrat and Republican are already trading barbs ahead of their Nov. 6 runoff.

Antonio Villaraigosa finishes third and endorses Newsom.

SACRAMENTO – Lt. Gov. Gavin Newsom, the former San Francisco mayor who has spent nearly eight years as understudy to Gov. Jerry Brown, secured a spot Tuesday night in the November general election to succeed the termed-out governor.

He will face John Cox, a Republican businessman who moved to California only a few years ago and has lost four previous runs for elective office — including one for president. California’s outnumbered GOP voters coalesced around Cox after President Trump tweeted an endorsement of him late in the campaign.

He was running second in Tuesday’s primary, with 26 percent of the vote, behind Newsom’s 34 percent.

Newsom’s fellow Democrat Antonio Villaraigosa, the former mayor of Los Angeles, was locked in a battle for third with GOP Assemblyman Travis Allen of Orange County. But only the top two finishers advance to the Nov. 6 general election, and both Villaraigosa and Allen were far behind Cox.

Bringing up the back of the pack of major candidates were Democratic state Treasurer John Chiang and Democratic former state schools chief Delaine Eastin.

Cox will face steep odds in a state where only one in every four voters is Republican, two-thirds of the voters disapprove of Trump and a Republican hasn’t been elected governor since Arnold Schwarzenegger in 2006.

Cox was virtually tied with Allen in many polls until last month, when he got help from two very different people: Trump and Newsom.

“California finally deserves a great Governor, one who understands borders, crime and lowering taxes,” Trump tweeted three weeks ago. “John Cox is the man — he’ll be the best Governor you’ve ever had.” He followed it up with two more pro-Cox tweets, including one on election day.

Meanwhile, mindful that Cox would probably be a weaker November foe than another Democrat, Newsom’s campaign ran ads that mentioned Cox as his opponent, hoping to boost his name recognition.

Newsom sought to draw that distinction in his victory speech Tuesday night in San Francisco, saying, “Voters will have a real choice this November between a governor who will stand up to Donald Trump and a foot soldier in his war on California.”

Anticipating that Newsom would try to tie him to Trump, Cox told his supporters in San Diego, “It wasn’t Donald Trump who made California the highest-taxed state in the country — it was Gavin Newsom and the Democrats.

“Mr. Newsom, you’ve had eight years, and your party has made a colossal mess of this once-golden state,” Cox said. “So before you get too comfortable enjoying your partisan registration advantage, you might want to ask yourself a few questions: How many hard-working Californians can’t afford a roof over their head tonight?”

Newsom’s showing brings him one step closer to a job that he first ran for nearly a decade ago.

Governor’s race will play on national politics

He announced a campaign for governor in 2009 when he was still mayor, but abandoned the effort when Brown entered the race.

Newsom settled for two terms as lieutenant governor — an office he once proposed to “get rid of” unless its occupant could function as a teammate of the governor — and bided his time. He increased his statewide name recognition, leading a statewide ballot measure to legalize cannabis in 2016 and another that year to toughen California’s ammunition laws.

Newsom, a wealthy entrepreneur with a wife and four children, was derided as a tool of business interests by progressives when he led San Francisco. But he reinvented himself as a progressive in the governor’s race, stitching together a coalition of some of the state’s largest and most left-leaning unions, including the California Nurses Association, Service Employees International Union California and California Labor Federation.

Money wasn’t a problem, as he outraised his opponents and headed into election day with $12.7 million in the bank.

Cox, who lives in Rancho Santa Fe (San Diego County), emphasized throughout the campaign that “I’m a businessman. A problem-solver. I’m not like these politicians.”

However, his opponents maintained that someone who has run for office five times is, by definition, a politician. Four of those runs came before he left Illinois in 2011 to come to California, including a brief campaign for president in 2006.

Cox makes the distinction that he doesn’t want “a career in politics.

I love running my business.” He is an attorney and an accountant, and he runs a residential property business.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by DAVID MICHAEL WOOD in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that DAVID MICHAEL WOOD be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.
THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 07/26/18 at 8:30AM in Dept. 5 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012
IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
