

Hahn backs bill to convert motels

LOS ANGELES – The Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors has voted unanimously to support legislation in Sacramento that would streamline the process of converting motels into supportive and transitional housing.

“Converting motels into supportive housing should be a quick and cost-effective way to address our homeless crisis-- but stricter regulations often make these conversions more difficult and more expensive than other housing projects,” said Supervisor Janice Hahn.

“By streamlining motel conversions we can get people off the streets quickly and into safe, supportive units where they can begin the long process of putting their lives back together.”

The Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors approved a motion by Hahn to support SB 450 authored by State Senator Thomas J. Umberg (D-Santa Ana).

The bill would exempt projects related to the conversion of a motel into supportive or transitional housing from the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). Projects that would qualify for exemptions would not increase the number of dwelling units and would make only minor alterations to the interior of the buildings to add cooking facilities and the provision of a hotplate or microwave to individual units.

“Our communities need more transitional and supportive housing to come as soon as possible, considering the state’s homeless crisis. Too many families are staying in these motels because they cannot pass a credit check to lease an apartment, and as a result, they end up paying more to reside in a motel,” said Umberg.

“This will make extraordinary opportunities for our state’s cities, as we continue to support our local communities when they diligently work to implement life-changing efforts for those in need. There is no single solution to tackling homelessness, but this gives local communities a sound option.”

The legislation is sponsored by the City of Long Beach and supported by the City of Los Angeles.

Dead baby found in Bellflower is ID’d

BELLFLOWER – A deceased 8-month-old girl has been identified as the daughter of a Sacramento County man after both were reported missing and the child’s body was found in the parking lot of a Bellflower mortuary, authorities confirmed Tuesday.

The Los Angeles County coroner’s office said the girl’s name was Alexia Rose Echeverria. She was discovered in a car seat, partially wrapped in a blanket, on the ground behind a dumpster Monday evening in the 10300 block of Alondra Boulevard, according to investigators.

Her father, 30-year-old Alexander Echeverria, remains missing, a Los Angeles County sheriff’s detective said Tuesday, adding that the case will be turned over to authorities in Sacramento County.

Alexia’s cause of death has not been disclosed. An autopsy is pending.

According to Los Angeles County sheriff’s investigators, Echeverria was driving a gray 2014 Volkswagen Jetta with the California license plate No. 7FFT866. Authorities said he has family in the Bellflower area.

He is described by authorities as “at-risk” because his family says he suffers from depression.

Cerritos College sets record with more than 5,000 graduates

The junior college saw a 25% increase in associate degrees for transfer.

NORWALK – For the fourth consecutive year, Cerritos College shattered its own graduation record, having certified the largest number of degrees and certificates awarded in the campus’ history.

During Commencement 2019 its 61st annual commencement ceremony held on Friday, May 24, the College conferred more than 5,000 degrees and certificates. The Class of 2019 overwhelmingly surpassed last year’s record-breaking number of degrees and certificates by almost 1,500 awards.

The college also saw a 25 percent increase in awards to students who earned an Associate Degree for Transfer (AA-T/AS-T) from 2018 to 2019, with more than 1,300 degrees awarded. The AA-T/AS-T degree guarantees transfer admission to the California State University system.

Since its inception in 2012, more than 5,700 students have earned AA-T/AS-T degrees at Cerritos College. The College currently has 27 AA-T/AS-T degree programs.

Angelica Fregoso, a graduate of the record-breaking Class of 2019, is receiving an AA-T in psychology. She is part of the college’s Scholars’ Honors Program, and is transferring to UCLA. Through the honors program, Angelica participated in UCLA’s Community College to PhD Scholars Program, a seven-month research program.

In addition, Angelica will spend eight weeks at the University of Iowa completing its Summer Research Opportunity Program.

“I would not have the privilege to take advantage of these opportunities without the Scholars’ Honors Program, and for that, I am eternally grateful,” said Angelica. After earning her bachelor’s degree in psychology, she plans to pursue a doctoral degree, and become a psychology research professor in order to give back to her community by mentoring.

Eric Draper, former White House chief photographer for President George W. Bush, served as the 61st commencement speaker. A Cerritos College alumnus, Draper inspired graduates to find a purpose in life and challenged them to “never underestimate themselves, never be afraid to ask for what they want, and not let their fears hold them back.”

“The fact that our students are breaking graduation records year after year is unprecedented in our campus’ history, this shows their drive to succeed and the commitment of our faculty, staff, administrators, and everyone at Cerritos college who make our students’ education and success their number one priority,” said

Dr. Jose Fierro, Cerritos College President/ Superintendent.

“I am extremely proud of our graduates. The majority of our students are first generation who come from underrepresented backgrounds. They face incredible obstacles every day and it is especially gratifying to see them rewarded for their perseverance,”

This year’s graduates will be transitioning to some of the nation’s top colleges and universities, including the University of La Verne, Loyola Marymount University, USC, UC Berkeley, and UCLA, among other schools.

Norwalk passes $151 million balanced budget

The City Council managed to pass its 2019-20 spending plan without the use of reserves, but officials warn of increasing pension costs.

By Eric Pierce
Editor

NORWALK – Norwalk’s City Council this week gave the green light to a $151.5 million balanced budget for fiscal year 2019-20, a spending plan that includes funding for capital outlay projects and homeless outreach despite a half-million dollar increase to its Sheriff’s Department contract.

Norwalk City Manager Jesus Gomez said the budget maintains service levels from the previous fiscal year and encompasses the City Council’s priorities.

“Emphasis has been placed on public safety including homeless outreach, infrastructure improvements, and economic development, while maintaining fiscal sustainability,” Gomez wrote in a report to council members.

Of the $151.5 million spending plan, more than $93 million is earmarked for operations, including personnel costs and debt service. “The financial plan also includes an allocation of $48 million for 67 capital improvement projects, 57 carryover and 10 new,” wrote Gomez.

Norwalk plans to spend $7.6 million on new tools, equipment, vehicles, computers, and upgrades of software and information technology.

Norwalk officials were able to balance the budget without using reserves under the assumption that the city will save $550,000 in full-time salaries cost savings due to attrition.

Revenue into the city’s General Fund is projected to increase 6%, or $2.2 million, to a total amount of $49.3 million. Officials attributed this projected increase to two factors: a hike in property taxes and a rise in franchise fees.

Norwalk officials also are counting on other sources of income:

- a $300,000 rebate from Southern California Edison for outfitting street lights with LED;
- $457,000 in interest

repayment from a former Redevelopment Agency loan;

$729,000 in loan principal repayments

$1 million from the city’s Pension Stabilization Trust Fund to be used in the future

As Norwalk’s total income is projected to increase, so is its spending, particularly in public safety.

Norwalk’s contract with the Los Angeles County Sheriff’s Department is expected to increase $523,000 from the current fiscal year, while maintaining the same number of deputies and level of service.

Other contractual agreements will increase by $388,000, not including insurance premiums, which are set to climb $203,000.

Officials cautioned that the 2019-20 spending plan could change according to ongoing labor negotiations with the city’s general and management units.

In the coming years, Norwalk will also likely grapple with increasing pension costs. According to Gomez, Norwalk paid $5.4 million towards CalPERS this current fiscal year but that number is expected to swell to $8.2 million by 2024.

“Additionally, staff prepared the city budget without knowledge of what actions the state may take that could impact local government finances,” Gomez wrote.

California’s general fund reserves is expected to reach nearly $20 billion, Gomez pointed out.

“Continued focus on building state reserves is prudent in light of economic and federal budget uncertainty and in preparation for a future recession,” Gomez said. “As prepared, it appears that there will be no state takeaways from cities.”

The Sheriff’s Department raised its price to patrol Norwalk by $523,000 annually.

L.A. County Library named 2019 Library of the Year

The L.A. County Library system earned the national award for its innovative programs; Norwalk has two L.A. County libraries within city limits.

NORWALK – LA County Library was just named Library of the Year by Gale/Library Journal for its outstanding community support, equity and inclusion, and creation of innovative services and partnerships that support the library’s mission.

As the 2019 Library of the Year, LA County Library will be featured on the cover of Library Journal’s (LJ’s) June 2019 issue, available in print and online, and will be honored at a reception at the American Library Association (ALA) annual conference 2019 in Washington, DC.

Established in 1992, each year the Library of the Year Award celebrates the library that most profoundly demonstrates service to the community, creativity and innovating in developing specific community programs or has seen dramatic increase in library use and leadership in creating programs emulated by other libraries.

This is the third honor LA County Library has received in the past 12 months from Library Journal following their wins for 2019 Librarian of the Year (given to Skye Patrick, Library Director) and 2018 Marketer of the Year (given to the Marketing & Communications team for its efforts in rebranding the organization).

LA County Library is the first organization ever to win both Library of the Year and Librarian of the Year in the same calendar year, and the first organization to win all three awards and be featured on the magazine’s cover 3 times in less than a year.

These awards are in addition to three other recent national recognitions: the Library was a Finalist for the Institute of Museum and Library Services 2019 National Medal, and won two National Association of Counties Achievement Awards for its iCount equity initiative and The Great Read Away, a fine forgiveness program for youth.

Of the prestigious accolade, LA County Library Director Skye Patrick said, “I am so proud of the dedicated and passionate staff we have at LA County Library. This is truly a well-deserved recognition of their creativity, hard work, and tireless efforts. We are grateful for the support we have received from the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, Chief Executive Office, and the County Departments we’ve collaborated with, as well as the multitude of agencies we’ve partnered with, and the people we serve.

“Thank you to Gale and Library Journal for this honor, and to our staff and partners for helping empower us to succeed in our endeavors and provide exemplary service to the communities of Los Angeles County.”

This award is a testament to the strength of the Library’s community-inspired services, like the Library’s Turns the Tables beginner’s DJ workshop for teens, The Great Read Away fine forgiveness program for youth, its Small Business Saturdays for entrepreneurially-inclined adults, digital camps for youth in underserved communities, its free high school diploma and career certificate program for adults, and mental health clinicians co-located at select libraries.

The Library also takes its services outside of library walls, its MkM maker mobiles, its Reading Machine early literacy vehicles, and its book kiosks in housing facilities for older adults and youth transitioning out of foster care.

Even in this digitally-inclined age, LA County Library remains a vital resource for its communities. The Library is currently upgrading its public computers and broadband to address the digital divide. In 2017, through the creation of more efficient staffing model, the Library was able to expand library service hours by 8% without an increase in operating costs. This year, overall attendance was up 5%, with 10.3 million customers visiting 87 libraries.

LA County Library has been innovative in re-envisioning traditional library programs to create new approaches to library programming. In addition, the Library adapts non-library program models to the library setting, bringing nationally-recognized, evidence-based programs to its communities—examples include implementation of the Positive Parenting Program, which helps parents navigate common childhood and teen issues, and setting up miniature libraries called Barbershop Books at 10 barbershop locations throughout the County.

“This is a very exciting time for libraries, and LA County exemplifies the creativity and care brought to our communities every day by these vital institutions,” said Rebecca T. Miller, editorial director of Library Journal and School Library Journal. “We’ve been watching LA County Library under the leadership of Skye Patrick, who was recently named LJ’s Librarian of the Year. Now this honor signals how effectively the organization has adapted and evolved to set a standard of service worth emulating.”

The City collects the sewer service charges on the tax roll in the same manner, by the same persons, and at the same time as, together with and not separately from, the general taxes of the City. The sewer service charges are levied to pay for the operation and maintenance of the City's sewer system, including capital replacement costs.

The City Council has caused a written report to be prepared and filed in the office of the City Clerk regarding the City's sewer service charges for Fiscal Year 2019/20. Such report contains a description of each parcel of real property receiving sewer services furnished by the City and the amount of the charges for each parcel for Fiscal Year 2019/20 computed in conformity with the charges prescribed in the adopted ordinance. The report is available for public inspection in Room 10 at the address noted above.

At the public hearing, the City Council will hear and consider all objections or protests to the report. If protests are filed and not withdrawn by the owners of a majority of the properties subject to the sewer service charges, the City Council still may order the charges to be collected, but the charges shall not be collected on the tax roll for Fiscal Year 2019/20. In such case, the City Council will consider the adoption of a resolution at a subsequent City Council meeting providing for an alternative method of collection.
Public Comment: All interested persons are invited to attend the public hearing and express opinions about the proposed levy of the sewer service charges for Fiscal Year 2019/20 and the report. Written comments may be submitted to the City Council prior to the time set for the hearing. Address written comments: Attention: City Clerk at the address noted above or by email to clerk@norwalkca.gov.
More Information: Questions concerning the public hearing matter should be directed to the Public Services Department at (562) 929-5511.

Accessibility: In compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act, if you need special assistance to participate in a City meeting or other services offered by this City, please contact the City Clerk's Office at (562) 929-5720. Notification at least 48 hours prior to the meeting or time when services are needed will assist the City staff in assuring that reasonable arrangements can be made to provide accessibility to the meeting or service. Assisted hearing devices will be available at this hearing without prior notification.

Dated this 24th day of May 2019.
