Man convicted of killing wife at Whittier Kohl's

 Enrique Acosta gunned down his estranged wife in front of their 8-year-old son. He will be sentenced in September.

By City News Service

WHITTIER – An ex-con who gunned down his estranged wife inside a Kohl's store in Whittier as their 8-year-old son waited just outside three days before Christmas 2020 was convicted Monday of first-degree murder.

Jurors deliberated less than a day before finding Enrique Acosta, now 43, of Whittier, guilty of killing Yvonne Annette Acosta inside the store in a crime caught on surveillance video as their son stood outside the store's doors on Dec. 22, 2020.

Acosta is facing a potential life prison term and is due back in a Norwalk courtroom for sentencing Sept. 15 by Superior Court Judge Debra Cole-

Hall.

In his closing argument Friday, Deputy District

Attorney Safaan Ahmed told the jury the defendant had four prior convictions for domestic violence involving his estranged wife, including a case in which he pleaded no contest to spousal battery just about a month before shooting the 46-year-old woman five times. Criminal protective orders had been issued in all of those cases, according to the prosecutor.

The prosecutor said the evidence proves the killing was first-degree murder, arguing that it was "not under a heat of passion" and that Acosta chose to bring a gun into a store while his estranged wife and young son were with him because he planned to do something with it that day.

conviction from 2000 for voluntary manslaughter, was taken into custody the next day in the Barstow area. He has remained behind bars since then.

Following his arrest, Acosta admitted to Whittier police that he had shot his estranged wife, with whom he shared the 8-year-old boy and an adult daughter, Ahmed said. The two had been separated for about a year, the prosecutor said.

Acosta's attorney, Daniel Im, had argued that "justice for Enrique in this case is a manslaughter."

"In this case, Yvonne was shot by Enrique. We're not disputing that," the defense lawyer told the jury during his closing argument.

"The evidence shows that manslaughter is the proper charge," Im said. "He did not commit murder."

The defense attorney said it could be argued that his client was a "bad husband" and acknowledged that Acosta had gone to county jail and prison -- the latter of which he said his client had admitted while on the stand in his own defense.

'Yvonne provoked Enrique with her claims of unfaithfulness ... Things were said that provoked an emotional response out of Enrique," he said, noting that his School. client has expressed regret about the shooting.

In his rebuttal argument, the prosecutor countered that nothing corroborated any allegation of eight schools and district programs provocation or the defendant's receiving the California School claim that the victim told him just before the shooting that she was having an affair, and urged the jury to hold Acosta "accountable" and to "give this family some peace."

Officers were called about 5:30 p.m. Dec. 22, 2022, to Whittwood Town Center on Whittier Boulevard near Santa Gertrudes Avenue after getting reports that shots were fired inside Kohl's, according to the Whittier Police Department.

Dr. Mary Sieu announced she will retire effective Aug. 16, ending a 32-year career in education.

CERRITOS – ABC Unified School District Superintendent Dr. Mary Sieu, an educator for 46 years including the last 32 at ABC Unified in Cerritos, announced that she will retire effective Aug.

Dr. Sieu was named superintendent of ABC in 2012.

Her accomplishments as superintendent include receiving national, state, and local recognition for student access to academic excellence and socialemotional support; outstanding parent/guardian programs; and strong employee group partnerships. She was named state superintendent of the year in 2017 by the Association of California School Administrators.

During Dr. Sieu's tenure, ABC schools and programs were recognized and celebrated for their achievements, including 18 California Distinguished Schools, 17 Gold Ribbon Schools, and six National Blue Ribbon Schools. All five middle schools were named National Schools to Watch and Tracy High School was honored as a Model Continuation High

The ABC Parent Leadership Academy earned the National School Board Association Magna Grand Prize Award, in addition to Board Association Golden Bell Awards.

Dr. Sieu is a strong advocate for student wellbeing. In 2010, she made mental health a district priority as she worked with staff and local agencies to ensure mental health professionals were available at every school.

CYA redevelopment moves forward

NORWALK – The Norwalk City Council recently received an update on the Norwalk Transit Village project planned to transform the former California Youth Authority facility located at 13200 Bloomfield Ave. with new affordable homes, community-enhancing activation, recreational areas, and connectivity to the Metrolink Station and public transit.

Since the last update to the City Council on Feb. 22, the draft conceptual plan has been refined after input from the community, key stakeholders, City Commissioners, and the Steering Committee. Key plan updates shared with the Norwalk City Council included:

·Commercial Component at Bloomfield Ave.: Commercial, dining, and hotel uses would be located on the non-residential portion of the site.

·Residential Component: Enhanced residential design features along with a comprehensive mobility and parking strategy.

·Community Gathering and Open Spaces: A micro-forest and green buffer zones would be created for the community to enjoy and an atgrade pedestrian and bike connection to the transit center is also being considered.

Norwalk has conducted community outreach since January, hosting virtual community meetings, attending the local farmers market, hosting an in-person community workshop open house and more.

Big themes that have been consistent since outreach began have been the community's interest in affordable housing choices, healthy amenities and restaurants in order to keep dollars in the community, and greater connectivity to the Metrolink and public transit.

Residents also shared that public safety, site access and traffic, and sustainability should be factored into the project, which is being taken into consideration.

"As we move through the state's process, I am confident in our city team and consultants to address concerns that arise to ensure that this project benefits our entire community," said Norwalk mayor Rick Ramirez.

Next steps for the project team will be to begin the Environmental Impact Report and specific plan for the project. Entitlements are expected to be approved in mid to late Fall 2023. The state would then be able to officially transfer the land to the city following project approvals.

Alyssa Ledezma, Isaiah Dunn rise above the rest

■ The duo were named St. Paul High School's Scholar Athletes of the Year for their accomplishments on the field and in the classroom.

By John M. Sherrard Contributor

SANTA FE SPRINGS – Two athletes who have been on varsity of their primary sport all four years and achieved numerous honors in the classroom, have been named the Cecilia Ronan Memorial Scholar Athlete Award for the year 2021-22 at St. Paul High School.

Alyssa Ledezma and Isaiah Dunn, who will be off to major universities this Fall, rose above the top, combining sport and academics at a high level in their high school careers.

Ledezma, who played all four years on varsity volleyball and combined that with an overall 4.8 GPA, ends her athletic career, but will attend UCLA, concentrating on her studies, majoring in Political Science

Dunn, who transferred in to St. Paul as a junior from Sacramento, played varsity at both schools for two years each in football and also ran track and played basketball, will attend Notre Dame as a Preferred Walk On (PFO) on the famed Fighting Irish football team.

Coincidentally, volleyball and football were also represented as the 2021-22 Male and Female Don Ward Athletes of the Year, with Rebecca Topete and Jordan Williams winning the award (See story in June 10 issue).

"Isaiah and Alyssa not only made an impact on the teams they were involved in, they left their imprint on St. Paul High School's community," Athletic Director Rich Avina said.

"Alyssa is the epitome of a Student-Athlete. She earned our Salutatorian award because of her commitment to academics, yet was able to balance the demands of being a leader on the Volleyball team all while being a well-rounded humble young lady. She has earned the respect of all those she came into contact with.

"Isaiah made an impact the moment he stepped foot on campus. He is the consummate team player whose positive attitude is infectious to those around him. He dominated on the field, court, and track but most importantly he dominated in the classroom."

Alyssa Ledezma

"My four years at St. Paul High school was filled with sentiments, memories, adversities and selffulfillment," said Ledezma, who also played one year of basketball in her freshman year. "Learning how to manage my time was the biggest factor in being a studentathlete - going to practice, then coming home and doing my homework and just prioritizing school and sports as the first things in my life.'

Some of those achievements Ledezma accomplished were: Salutatorian, Principals Honor Roll with distinction, National Honor Society, Spanish Honor Society, CSF member, National English Honor Society, Swordsmen Honors and Ambassador Excellence Award.

Ledezma, who struggled a bit as a freshman, ended her first year on a high note.

"As a freshman on varsity, I felt a lot of pressure to prove myself to my teammates and coaches and to uphold my grades," she said. "Although I struggled at times due to poor time management, I finished the school year with principal's honor roll with distinction and student athlete."

Things continued to get tough for the sophomore on the court, but her studies once again flourished.

"My confidence dwindled and I was never able to truly step back onto the court as the player that I once was," she added.

However, honors came her way both as a sophomore and especially in her junior year, when the season was cancelled due to the pandemic.

Everything changed for the better for Ledezma this past season on the court and even more in the classroom

"Entering my senior year, I felt a lot of pressure to redeem myself on the court, to stay within the top five students, and to raise my confidence," Ledezma said. "As many athletes and students know, lack of confidence is the ultimate obstacle. Fortunately, I was able to conquer it in my senior year."

Emiliano Mendoza, who was there for these past three years as head coach, saw a big team improvement with a second place in the Del Rey League and an improvement from Ledezma along the way.

"From day one, Alyssa displayed the competitiveness you want to see in a player," he said. "She didn't get much playing time her freshman year, but you could see in practices that it was there. In her sophomore year, while competing for the starting job with three others, is when I feel she truly got the taste for wanting to be on the court at all times.

"Whether it was tough defense, strong serving or being a leader on the court, Alyssa truly shined in her senior year for us.'

Ledezma summed up her senior year.

"As a senior setter, I naturally stepped into my role as a captain and leader on the court," she said. "With the help of the coaches and my teammates, we were able to achieve our goal of becoming league champions. As an individual player I was selected as a First-Team, All-Del Rey League player.

"I think learning how to communicate with everyone that would benefit myself and the team is what led me to be a captain on the team."

"My greatest gratitude goes to my parents and God, whom have always kept my best interest," concluded Ledezma. "As a graduate, I will now embark on a new journey, as I transition from a Swordsman to a Bruin and spend the next four years at UCLA.<sup>3</sup>

Isaiah Dunn

"I am a highly motivated

Isaiah Dunn and Alyssa Ledesma were awarded the Cecilia Ronin Scholar Athlete Award at St. Paul High

"There are so many people who worked for Isaiah to make this happen," St. Paul Football coach Rick Zepeda said. "I never realized how long the arms of our program are, when it came to getting Isaiah an opportunity to play at Notre Dame.

"From the day they (mom Kathy and Isaiah) arrived, it was as if the Dunn's and St. Paul, were longtime friends. We all hit it off from the start. Our faith and values as a school and program were too close to pass up, and two years later, Isaiah is leaving St. Paul with a 4.5 GPA and heading to Notre Dame University to play football."

As he entered his first year at St. Paul, the season would be delayed because of the pandemic until the Spring of '22.

However, the Swordsmen struggled in the shortened season. "Interceptions, sacks, runs for loss, was the common theme in his first season as a varsity quarterback," Zepeda said.

"But Isaiah never flinched. I would scold him for making mistakes when he came to sideline and he would shrug me off, with 'yes sir', and 'I'll do better next time' or 'I got this' I would just sigh and walk away, because his confidence in himself made me a

That pretty much sums up Isaiah Dunn.

Isaiah Dunn's accomplishments: Academic Scholarship, Provost Scholarship, Notre Dame Club of LA Scholarship, National Football Foundation, Principals Honor Roll with distinction, CSF member, National English Honor Society, Outstanding Christian Service, Adam J Rosales Scholarship recipient, Dean Diomedes Scholarship recipient, Santa Fe Springs Rotary Student of the Month.

Away from the classroom and his studies was his leading part in the school play, "The Addams Family" and his hundreds of volunteer hours through his four years.

On the field, in the gym and on the track his awards are: D4 All-CIF (football) Basketball All-Camino Real League (Jr. and Sr.), Football All-League (Frosh, Soph, Sr.), All-Conference (Sr.), Track MVP (Sr.), 800, 1600, 4x4.

Coach Zepeda summed up Isaiah Dunn and what may come of his legacy,

"They have already made a movie about an overachieving player, achieving his dream of running on the field as a player at Notre Dame called 'Rudy'," said Zepeda.

"I cannot wait to see the sequel, called 'Dunn Right', because no one is going to outwork Isaiah when he decides he wants to do something.

Isaiah Dunn couldn't express enough the help he received to get to the next level. "Thank you, God, for making this all possible and to all of my teammates, coaches and everyone else who contributed to my success, I will be attending my next four years at the University of Notre Dame. Go Irish," he concluded.

Uvalde exposes the shortcomings of government

By Andrew Napolitano

The failure of law enforcement at all levels — local, state and federal — to protect 19 children who were slaughtered by a madman in Uvalde, Texas, in May has raised serious questions about the role of police in our once-free society. Admittedly, the Uvalde case was extreme, as 376 armed police officers did little or nothing to stop the slaughter perpetrated by one madman. There was no command and control; the decisions made on the scene were chaotic and farcical; and the essence of what law enforcement did was to shield itself from harm, rather than stop the harm.

The killer in Uvalde began his rampage by shooting randomly at the school building from a parking lot across the street as he walked toward the school. He apparently entered through a door that officials presumed was locked. It wasn't. The police themselves waited 44 minutes to obtain a key to this unlocked door, which none of them even tried to open. The commanding officer at the scene was not in electronic communication with his team, his dispatcher or the 24 other police agencies present.

The Texas Legislature condemned the police response; and now heartbroken parents are left without a remedy. This is so because the U.S. Supreme Court has consistently ruled that the government and its agents have no duty to interfere with crimes that are in progress and no general duty to protect innocents. Under this line of cases, collectively called the DeShaney doctrine, the police can physically observe a bank robbery, a rape or a murder, and lawfully do nothing.

Joshua DeShaney was a 4-year-old boy who had been repeatedly abused and irreparably brain damaged by his own father whose behavior was well-known to the local government. When the mother sued the government for failure to protect Joshua, the Supreme Court ruled that the government enjoys the common law privilege of allocating its resources with impunity. Stated differently, the government decides whom it will protect and whom it will let be. Not surprisingly, the DeShaney doctrine compels the government only to protect itself and #### those it has confined.

There is nothing in the Constitution that compels the DeShaney doctrine. It is just big government protecting itself. There are many selfless police throughout the country who would courageously interfere to stop violent crime because they have the ability to stop it and because it is always right to save innocent human life.

In Texas, where it is lawful for anyone over 18 to purchase and openly carry a handgun, it is unlawful to carry one in a school. Local school officials can request exemptions from this law from state officials, and those exemptions have been given to all 137 Texas school districts that requested them. Of course, in none of the districts where teachers and staff are armed have there been any killings.

Just this week, in Greenwood, Indiana, before the police arrived, a 22-year-old civilian shot and killed a shooter who had begun a killing rampage in a shopping mall. Had Indiana not recognized the right to carry a firearm, we might have had another Uvalde or Buffalo, New York, slaughter on our hands.

The problem here is too much government, a Progressive goal going back to the beginnings of the Nanny State 125 years ago, when cities and towns started government monopolies on law enforcement and schools, and taxed everyone in their jurisdictions for the so-called services these entities provided, whether the taxpayer received the services or not. Unfortunately, it takes a tragedy like Uvalde before folks recognize that America is no longer a free country.

In a free country, the government needs permission to do everything. In America today, we all need the government's permission to do anything, even to defend ourselves. Ayn Rand called this an inversion. Ludwig von Mises famously described government as the negation of liberty, and Murray Rothbard called it the monopoly of force in a given geographic area with no presumption of moral propriety. Government has no competition; it has guaranteed customers who must pay its bills; and it has made itself immune from the consequences of its own failures. Why do we give cops a badge and a gun and unchecked authority to restrain our free movements and then immunize them from their own failure to do what is expected? The police are at the fulcrum of the clash between order and liberty. Liberty is natural to humanity. Order is imposed by the tyranny of the majority.

Imagine that Uvalde had no police force and a group of parents hired private police to protect their kids at school. Would we even be having this conversation? Of course not. Yet, if the private police failed to protect the children, wouldn't they be fired and sued?

The same government mentality — pay whatever we demand and accept whatever we give — wants to strip us of our right to self-defense and leave us defenseless. That is the Progressive dream — an egalitarian society where the government takes from each person according to our abilities and gives to others whatever it decides they need, and we are all dependent upon it.

Because most folks prefer the illusion of safety to the sweet fruits of liberty, the government has successfully stolen freedom and given the impression that only it knows how to use force for beneficial purposes. Uvalde shattered that illusion.

What do we do about this?

Thomas Jefferson argued that no government is moral without the consent of the governed, and all government needs the actual personal consent of the governed once in every generation. Without consent, the government has no right to negate freedom. Even with consent, if the government fails to do what we have hired it to do, if it impairs liberty and permits others to take life, liberty or property, it should be altered or abolished.

After Roe, sex education is even more vital

By Dr. Eva Goldfarb and Dr. Lisa Lieberman

Religious-right political groups that have spent decades dismantling abortion rights in much of the country have been gunning for sex education for just as long. Their dangerous and cynical efforts now appear under the guise of "parental rights" and "school transparency" on the floors of state legislatures and at school board meetings.

High quality, evidence-informed sex education is critically important, effective and supported by an overwhelming majority of Americans. Limiting access to that instruction threatens the health and safety of young people, particularly those in states where access to reproductive health care is scarce in post-Roe v. Wade America.

Sadly, sex education is on shaky ground in many parts of the United States. Florida's "Don't Say Gay" law, which went into effect this month and denies students in younger grades the opportunity to learn about gender identity and sexual orientation, was just one of many recent state bills seeking to restrict access to comprehensive sex education. While groups pushing these laws argue that such instruction puts children at risk of sexual exploitation, our research has found that comprehensive, medically accurate sex ed in fact protects them. managing feelings and ability to establish and maintain positive relationships and increases a sense of self-control and safety. It also strengthens media literacy, which can help young people find reliable information about sexual and reproductive health and rights while being able to detect false or misleading information.

The challenge is that only 11 states mandate sex education that is medically accurate, while others expressly stipulate that, if sex education is taught, coverage of abortion is prohibited or can only be portrayed negatively. States that don't require medical accuracy in sex ed often allow schools to use programs with false, misleading or distorted information. Some only discuss contraception in terms of failure rates and withhold lifesaving information about the use of condoms to prevent S.T.I.s and pregnancy.

sex education environments in their own states, including up-to-date information on legislative and advocacy efforts to secure comprehensive sex education.)

Because sex education is often under local control, even in states with more progressive policies, instruction can fall short, especially on highly politicized topics like abortion. It is imperative to dispel the misinformation young people are exposed to about the dangers of abortion. Contrary to what many students are taught, someone is far more likely to die from giving birth than from a legal abortion. And we need to normalize the procedure for young people, since around one in four women and many trans and nonbinary people have an abortion in their lifetimes.

For many young people, especially those whose sex education is lacking, the internet becomes a primary source of sexual health information. While social media platforms like TikTok are not a sufficient substitute for classroom-based learning, a growing number of sex educators and health care providers are turning to them. Websites such as Amaze.org, PlannedParenthood.org, Scarleteen.com and Sexetc. org are filled with accessible, accurate and developmentally and ageappropriate information for young people.

Despite the lies and distortion meant to scare parents away, adults across the political spectrum have said they support sex education for their children. And for good reason: States or counties that support teaching about both contraception and prevention of sexually transmitted infections have lower rates of S.T.I.s and adolescent pregnancies; states that rely on abstinence-only approaches, now rebranded as "sexual risk avoidance," have higher teenage pregnancy rates.

In a systematic review of 30 years of peer-reviewed research that explored sex education outcomes beyond pregnancy and S.T.I. prevention, we found that high-quality sex education decreases intimatepartner violence, as well as homophobic bullying and harassment. It promotes healthy relationships and helps prevent child sex abuse by increasing skills to identify and report such offenses.

Sex education improves skills like empathy, communication,

Others assert long disproved claims, such as that having a legal abortion puts someone at greater risk for infertility and suicide. They also promote stigmatizing moral and religious beliefs — using terms like "virginity" and "chastity" in an effort to push abstinence — and teach that sexual activity outside heterosexual marriage is likely to have harmful psychological and physical effects.

The good news is that even in states that restrict sex education, concepts of fairness, dignity and respect — as well as consent and bodily integrity (that we each have the right to say what we do with our own bodies) — are regularly taught in early grades without controversy. They are just not recognized as sex education. Indeed, some of the most effective sex education outcomes we found from elementary through high school were achieved not just in traditional health or sex education classrooms, but in English, social studies, physical education, music and art classes.

Even in states hostile to abortion, it is possible to promote schoolbased instruction that meets the National Sex Education Standards, which are research-based guidelines that one of us, Dr. Goldfarb, initially helped develop for the core content and skills needed for effective K-12 sex education. Federal legislation has been proposed that would support high-quality sex education and impede federal funding for abstinenceonly programming. (Further, anyone can review in-depth profiles of the In the post-Roe era, we must fight state by state, district by district, to fend off attacks on sex education based on falsehoods and fear. Community members must speak up for medically accurate sex education at the local level, where curriculum decisions are often driven by who shows up at public meetings and who sits on the school board.

Many of those who have worked to deny access to critical reproductive health care for millions of Americans are also determined to keep our young people ignorant, disempowered and at even greater risk. These efforts are dangerous and must be stopped. Without sex education, post-Roe America will be even bleaker when it comes to sexual health.

Drs. Goldfarb and Lieberman are professors of public health at Montclair State University and authors of "Three Decades of Research: The Case for Comprehensive Sex Education."

Newsom: too liberal for America

By Larry Elder

Democrats coalesced behind the presidential nomination of Joe Biden after Bernie Sanders won the Nevada caucuses, briefly becoming the Democratic Party's front-runner. Fearing Sanders could not beat President Donald Trump, Democrats quickly united behind the more electable Biden. But compared to "democratic socialist" Sanders, is California Gov. Gavin Newsom, on policy, really any different?

Newsom hates the oil and gas industry more than does President Joe Biden. Newsom ordered a ban on new gas-powered cars by 2035. He ordered a ban on new oil fracking by 2024. He banned the sale of gaspowered lawn mowers and leaf blowers by 2024.

Newsom ordered a more draconian COVID-19 lockdown than did any other governor. He issued a dizzying number of directives, including ordering the closure of most school campuses; a mask mandate; the vaccination of all state employees or regular testing; the mailing of ballots to all registered voters; and in-school student mask and vaccine mandates for most grades, public and private, as well and school staff vaccine mandates. As to shutdowns, in July 2020, USA Today wrote, "All (California) counties are required to close indoor operations of restaurants, wineries, tasting rooms, movie theaters, family entertainment centers, zoos, museums, card rooms and all bars."

Newsom ordered large toy stores to set up a separate section for "gender neutral" toys. The Democratic lawmaker who introduced the bill said: "Part of it is to make sure if you're a young girl that you can find a police car, fire truck, a periodic table or a dinosaur. And then similarly, if you're a boy, if you're more artistic and want to play with glitter, why not? Why should you feel the stigma of saying, 'Oh, this should be shamed' and going to a different location?"

Newsom signed a bill to restrict sentencing enhancements for certain crimes, including those committed by gang members. Gang members in California are disproportionately black and Hispanic, and to punish them severely would perpetuate "systemic racism." Never mind the disproportionate number of victims of gang crimes who are black and Hispanic.

Newsom signed a bill to establish a first-in-the-nation task force to study and issue recommendations for reparations. The task force recently issued its first report and proposed the implementation of "a comprehensive reparations scheme." How out-of-step is Newsom on reparations? In December 2021, the liberal Brookings Institute wrote: "Recent polling data documents Americans' general opposition to reparations in the form of financial payments to Black Americans as compensation for slavery."

On abortion, The New York Times wrote: "In the past year, Mr. Newsom has ramped up funding for abortion providers; offered tax breaks for companies seeking to move from states where abortion may be outlawed; and signed bills to protect abortion patients from privacy intrusions, insurance co-pays and threats, pressure or other attempts at 'reproductive coercion.'" Newsom supports an amendment to the state's constitution to ensure "personal reproductive liberty," an amendment whose wording the California Catholic Conference found so "extreme" it could allow third trimester abortions. After the reversal of Roe v. Wade, Newsom proposed making California a "sanctuary state" for those seeking abortions. In signing a bill to provide "abortion rights" to those coming to California for abortions, Newsom said: "We will not aid, we will not abet in their efforts to be punitive, to fine and create fear for those that seek that support. We are proud to provide it — and we do."

Newsom supports California's illegal immigration sanctuary state laws and signed legislation expanding access to state funding for health care to some illegal aliens, with a stated goal to provide state health care to all illegal aliens.

Newsom signed a bill mandating that publicly held corporations headquartered in California have a certain number of "underrepresented" board members defined as "an individual who selfidentifies as black, African American, Hispanic, Latino, Asian, Pacific Islander, Native American, Native Hawaiian, or Alaska Native, or who self-identifies as gay, lesbian, bisexual, or transgender." A judge ruled that the law violated the state constitution.

Any questions?

The two men are accused of committing a string of armed robberies that targeted 7-Eleven stores.

LA HABRA - Two suspects charged in connection with a crime spree that left three people dead and included robberies at a string of 7- Eleven robberies across the Southland made their first court appearances Tuesday, but their arraignment on various felony counts was delayed until next month.

Malik Patt of Los Angeles is facing three counts of murder, along with attempted murder and other felonies in connection with killings that occurred July 11 in or near 7-Eleven stores in Santa Ana and Brea, along with the July 9 killing of a homeless man in North Hills in Los Angeles County.

"Patt is a stone-cold serial killer." Orange County District Attorney Todd Spitzer said at a news conference Monday announcing the criminal charges. "There's no other way to describe him."

In addition to the three murder counts, Patt also faces two counts of attempted murder, three counts of robbery and one count of carjacking while armed, according to Spitzer.

The charges against Patt include special circumstance allegations of multiple murders and murder in the commission of a robbery. The case also includes various sentencing enhancements for personal use or discharge of a handgun.

Patt faces a possible death sentence, if prosecutors opt to pursue it. At a minimum, he would face life in prison without the possibility of parole if convicted at trial.

The co-defendant in the case, 44-year-old Jason Payne, described as a neighbor of Patt, was charged with three counts of robbery and one count of attempted robbery, stemming from heists in Santa Ana, La Habra and Brea, Spitzer said.

District Attorney Seton Hunt revealed that after the July 11 crime spree and before their arrests on Friday, the pair went to a sporting goods store in an attempt to buy more ammunition. The pair were unable to do so, due to Patt's age and Payne's criminal background.

It's not entirely clear how Patt and Payne are connected, but they are neighbors in Los Angeles and have had a "long-standing relationship," Spitzer said. Payne was allegedly a driver in the stickups, but Patt is also accused of carjacking a victim to get to the getaway car Payne was driving, Spitzer said.

Spitzer said Patt's alleged actions during the crime wave sent "chills up my own spine."

'To see somebody who could just kill people in cold blood like this, it's just unfathomable. It's scary," he said.

According to Spitzer, the crime spree allegedly carried out by Patt began July 9 with the slaying of a homeless man in the 16100 block of Parthenia Street, near Woodley Avenue, in North Hills. That killing occurred about 200 yards away from a 7-Eleven store that was robbed later that day.

Investigators in Los Angeles County were still working to determine if that robbery and other heists in the area are connected to Patt or Payne.

Authorities said the 7-Eleven crime spree occurred July 11 -or 7-11 - - beginning in Ontario. Police said just after midnight, the 7-Eleven at 636 N. Vine Ave. was robbed. The suspect held up the store with a handgun, but no shots were fired and no one was injured.

At 1:35 a.m. July 11, the 7-Eleven store at 2410 W. Arrow Route in Upland was robbed, police said.

At 1:50 a.m., the 7-Eleven store at 5102 La Sierra Ave. in Riverside was robbed by a gunman. That robbery escalated, with the suspect shooting a customer, who was hospitalized in what was described as grave condition.

Payne was only charged with robberies -- not murder -- at this time because of a change in state law that requires prosecutors to show more evidence that the suspect knew killing was part of the plan and that he acted in a way that showed reckless indifference to the lives of the victims, Spitzer said.

Both men appeared in court in Santa Ana Tuesday, but their arraignment was delayed until Aug. 18.

Payne's bail was set at $100,000.

Patt is being held without bail.

Patt and Payne were arrested about 1:10 p.m. Friday in the 1900 block of West 23rd Street, near Normandie Avenue, in South Los Angeles, authorities said. Police said Patt is the main suspect seen in widely circulated surveillance video photos from some of the robberies.

In court Tuesday, Senior Deputy

Officer Ryan Railsback of the Riverside Police Department said Friday the victim has shown "slight improvement, but is still very Minutes after 3 a.m. July 11, the Yum Yum Donuts shop at 2441 N. Tustin St. in Santa Ana was robbed, Valentin said.

About 20 minutes later, 24-year-old Matthew Rule of Santa Ana was fatally shot outside the 7-Eleven store at 302 E. 17th St. in Santa Ana.

Officers found Rule in the parking lot with a gunshot wound to the upper body, Santa Ana Police Department Sgt. Maria Lopez said. The victim was pronounced dead at the scene.

Santa Ana Police Department Chief David Valentin said Rule was not the primary target of the shooter. The gunman was targeting someone else, but Rule "stepped in" to "redirect" the robber and was shot, Valentin said.

Brea police said they responded at 4:17 a.m. to the 7-Eleven store at 109 W. Lambert Road and found a male store clerk fatally shot in what officers determined to be a robbery. The clerk was later identified as 40-year-old Matthew Hirsch, who died at the scene, police said.

About a half-hour later, the 7-Eleven store at 381 E. Whittier Blvd. in La Habra was robbed. and two people were shot, according to Sgt. Eric Roy of the La Habra Police Department. Both victims were taken to a hospital, and both were expected to survive. Police said the victims were a clerk and a customer.

Based on surveillance images, police said they were able to link the same suspect to all of the heists.

The robberies that occurred in Ontario and Upland will be prosecuted in San Bernardino County, Spitzer said.

The Orange County District Attorney's Office will prosecute the shooting at the 7-Eleven in Riverside if the victim dies, but it will be prosecuted in Riverside County if the victim survives the attack, Spitzer said.
